It is important for you to know your clients very well before building to help in your choice of contents, layouts, features and modules used to create an interactive look. Not doing this may result in designs without enough useful contents to serve visitors or users in response to their inputs or engagement efforts.

About the State Level Seminar

The Semantic Web aims to explicate the meaning of web content by adding semantic annotations that describe the content and function of resources. Providing shareable annotations requires the use of ontologies that describe a common model of a domain. The Web Ontology Language OWL has been defined in order to support representation of ontologies, and their manipulation through the use of reasoning. The seminar will provide a brief overview of OWL and the underlying theory, describe applications of ontologies, and give pointers to areas of overlap between Semantic Web and Accessibility research.

The Semantic Web is an evolving development of the World Wide Web in which the meaning (semantics) of information and services on the web is defined, making it possible for the web to "understand" and satisfy the requests of people and machines to use the web content. Some of points delivered was the Resource Description Framework (RDF), a variety of data interchange formats (e.g. RDF/XML, N3, Turtle, N-Triples), and notations such as RDF Schema (RDFS) and the Web Ontology Language (OWL).
